AirAsia Increases Flight Frequency to “Hanoi” to 2 Flights Daily Offers Promotional Fare Starting at Only 990 THB per Trip*

BANGKOK, 1 November 2016 – AirAsia announces an addition of flights from Bangkok (Don Mueang), Thailand to Hanoi, Vietnam to 2 flights daily along with a promotional fare for its added flight starting at only 990 THB per trip* available for booking from today until 13 November 2016 for travel from 9 December 2016 to 2 October 2017 at www.airasia.com.

The added frequency underlines AirAsia’s leading role among low fare airlines and highlights it as the airline with the most flights from Thailand to throughout Asean. AirAsia currently flies from Thailand to 7 Asean nations of Cambodia, Lao, Myanmar, Vietnam, Malaysia, Indonesia and Singapore on 17 routes totaling 30 flights daily. Its latest flight addition is definite to meet increased demand during the year-end travel season.

Travelers from Thailand’s Chiang Mai, Hat Yai, Phuket, Krabi, Surat Thani and Khon Kaen will be able to connect with ease to Hanoi via Don Mueang Airport with only one check-in needed and with their baggage forwarded to the terminal destination. At the same time, travelers from Hanoi will soon be able to use AirAsia’s Fly Thru service to connect to destinations across Thailand.

AirAsia currently offers flights from Thailand to 2 destinations in Vietnam, from Bangkok-Hanoi 2 flights daily and Bangkok-Ho Chi Minh 3 flights daily. Bookings are available for the added flight to Hanoi today until 13 November 2016 for travel from 9 December 2016 to 13 November 2017 at www.airasia.com.
