Mr. Santisuk Klongchaiya, Director of Commercial for Thai AirAsia, said that as demand on popular routes has only continued to grow, AirAsia has decided to offer early-risers the ability to avoid traffic and congestion at the airport while still enjoying AirAsia's low fares. Early morning flights are being added to the airline's two of most popular domestic routes, Don Mueang-Chiang Mai from 12 to 13 flights a day and Don Mueang-Phuket from 17 to 18 flights a day, with plans to add frequency on other routes in the future.

"We guarantee that our added early morning flights will still be just as well-priced compared to the average for seats on any other flight as we are adding them to offer new travel opportunities and to open a new market that includes connecting travellers, tourists and business travellers looking to make day trips," Mr. Santisuk said.
